No they can't win. Our entries will distance them. Book makers are backing the Democratic ticket, with great odds.

Harry Sommers, in his paper, the Elizabethtown News, tells the truth in the following article. Attempts have been made in this section to mix a local with a party issue, but it will not work: "To make the Democratic party either a prohibition party or an political suicide. The "dry" people 25c at R. E. McRoberts. in the Democratic party have no right to demand that prohibition shall be a part of Democratic faith and neither have the "wet" people any right to demand that anti-prohibition shall become a part of Democratic faith. As Gov. Beckham says, the Democratic party is older and broader than this question and will outlive it. A Democrat can be a consistent party man and vote either wet or dry just as he can be a Democrat and be either Presbyterian or a Catholic The Democratic party in Kentucky to secure day. success must steer clear of both the Anti Saloon League and the liquororganization."

The attempts to revise the present system of taxation in Kentucky should be successful, for it is rotten to the core, retards progress and enterprise, and drives capital from the state. It is estimated that only 10 per cent of the money or personal soon be all right.

More about the Creamery

Years ago, many farms in what is now known as the Edgin Creamery Belt were covered by mortgages. This, however, was before the advent of the creamery. It is now a land that truly flows with milk and butter, and is considered by all as one of the most prosperous regions of the world. Milk and butter are the chief products; other things are merely secondary and supplementary to these.

Butter and milk being absolute necessities of life, their market is more staple and reliable than any other product of farm or factory. The maker of good butter goes hand in hand with success The average herd in the Eigin belt was from about 20 to 50 head. They are carefully bred and selected, properly housed and fed; and are returning to their owners a golden fortune. As an example; one patron last year averaged $103.00 per head on 31 cows for butter, sold $800.00 worth of hogs, raised from the skimmed milk, saving 11 choice calves to increase his herd, and sold the remainder for yeal. This is not an exceptional case, but the general rule. Their feed is clover, hay and ensilage for roughness, with a balanced ration of corn, oats, and bran. Some few use barley and cotton seed meal with success. Pararle grass finishes the bill of fare.

What can be done around Eigin can be done around Lancaster. We can raise as good herds as they. We can raise everything necessary to feed them; and in blue-grass, we can go them one better than their pararie grass. So with natural advantages in our favor let us inject a little Yankie hustle into our blood, and we shall see a new era in Garrard County.

The Creamery will now run continuously and Mr Currey will make butter that will bring the top Eigin quotation. As many routs will be started as can be made profitable and premanant; and all routes started will be permanent.

Lexington Route, No 1 is now established and will run regularly from Rufus Moss, 1 mile north of Bryantsville to Lancaster. Notice will be given as other routes are established. I shall take pleasure in making individual test for my patrons, so that they may eliminate their unprofitable cows, and build up a profitable herd. In all things that I may be of service to you, command me. Yours faithfully,

> Had Something of a Sinecure. As far back as the reign of Queen Elizabeth there was a crown official, known as the "uncorker of ocean bottles," whose duty it was to open all sealed bottles cast up by the sea and examine the contents. The official 'uncorker" continued to flouish down to the reign of George III., when the position was abolished.
